Student Union to Hold Rally in Protest of Labour Dispute

The University of Saskatchewan Students' Union (USSU) announced today that it will be holding a student rally to protest the current labour stalemate between CUPE 1975 and the University of Saskatchewan.

"We are not taking sides in this issue, but we want the labour dispute to end immediately because student education is suffering," said Student Union President James Pepler.

"Students have become a third-party victim in this dispute," said Pepler. "The Student Union will not idly stand by when the education of its members is being threatened."

The rally, set for noon on Tuesday, November 20, will begin in Lower Place Riel on the University Campus. From there, the rally procession will march down College Avenue, and will then proceed to the University's Administration Building.

"The rally march route is intended to send a message to members of CUPE 1975 and University Administration that enough is enough," said Pepler.
